

Security Solutions (Northern) Ltd -Privacy Policy

Security Solutions may hold and use information about you in your capacity as a consumer, a business customer, or in any other capacity.

If you are visiting any of our websites or using any of our services, by continuing to do so, you indicate your agreement to our use of your personal information as set out in this Privacy Policy.

Your privacy is important to us. We want you to feel confident about the personal information we hold about you.

Security Solutions takes your privacy seriously and takes all reasonable care to prevent any unauthorised access to your personal information.

Security Solutions is committed to dealing with personal data in the spirit of the Data Protection Act 1998 (“the Act”) and protecting personal privacy in accordance with the law.

What does this Privacy Policy cover?

This Privacy Policy only applies to how Security Solutions deals with your personal information.

Third party websites that you can link to from Security Solutions websites are not covered by our Privacy Policy and we accept no responsibility or liability for these sites. We recommend that you check the privacy policy of any site you visit.

What information do we collect, and when do we collect it?

In general, you can visit Security Solutions websites without giving us any personal information. We collect general information about visitors to our websites, to help us improve our websites and services. This includes how many visitors there are to our sites and how long they view each page.

In certain circumstances we may ask for personal information about you. These include if you enter any of our competitions or promotions, subscribe to one of our services, request an audit, complete a survey, submit an enquiry or register for one of our events.

We may ask you for information to enable us to provide a service to you. We collect this information in a number of ways, including via telephone, written correspondence, email and websites. If we provide a service to you, we may have information about your use of that service.

Cookies

Security Solutions may use cookies to collect information from visitors to our websites. Cookies may contain personal information.

A cookie is a text file which saved onto your computer when you visit a website. Your browser may allow you to choose whether to accept cookies or not, and if you choose to accept cookies, you may be able to allow different levels of acceptance. For more about cookies please visit www.allaboutcookies.org

Other technologies

Security Solutions may use other technologies on our websites and in e-mail communications to determine, for example, how many visitors have visited certain pages, opened messages or clicked on links.

What do we do with the information we collect?

We use the personal information we collect to help personalise your online experience, as well as for administration and marketing purposes.

We shall not release the personal information we collect, in whole or in part, to any third parties unless:

- We are obliged to do so by law; or
- With your consent; or
- In the event that we sell or buy any business or assets, in which case we may disclose your personal information to the prospective seller or buyer of such business or assets; or
- If Security Solutions or substantially all of its assets are acquired by a third party, in which case personal data held by it about its customers will be one of the transferred assets.

Changes to This Privacy Policy

We reserve the right to change the terms of this Privacy Policy at any time. When we make changes, we shall update the version number of the policy and publish the latest policy on our websites. We encourage you to review this policy whenever you visit one of our sites.
